Counterfeit bills recovered

Investigator Nathan Hoda of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department reported the recovery of $3,700 in counterfeit bills Monday.

Hoda said a juvenile resident discovered a Hancock County Bank case on the ground by a bridge on Hwy. 43 in North Hancock County.

The zippered case contained bills of $20 and $100 denominations.

The family brought the money to a bank in Picayune, "with dreams of a nice Christmas," added Hoda, and it was there that it was determined that the money was fake.

The Picayune Police Department is working in conjunction with the county sheriff's office and the United States Secret Service.

Secret Service agent John Gleason reported by phone Tuesday that businesses throughout several local communities have been passed counterfeit bills since the first of December.

Firing controversy

Frilot dismisses policemen; officials respond

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The city of Waveland is buzzing with "talk" of the recent firing of two police department employees by Mayor Stella Frilot the day after her taking office.

Frilot, in response to questions of her authority to hire or fire city personnel said, "The city attorney (Lucien Gex) has advised me that it is in the power of the office to do so."

Rene Normand, a patrolman for three years, and Investigator Robert "Poochie" Tartavouille, a 16-year veteran on the Waveland Police Department were fired for job performance reasons, according to Frilot.

It is rumored that Frilot ordered the dismissal of Normand "in retaliation for giving her son a DUI ticket."

"My son has never had a DUI," said Frilot, "nor has any member of my family ever received a ticket from Patrolman Normand."

Ward 2 Alderman Bob Hubbard, an eight-year veteran of the board, stated, "To my knowledge, a firing always went up before the board. I was not informed prior to the firings."

Ward 1 Alderman Barbara Rappold disagreed with Hubbard saying, "This is nothing new. The mayor has the authority."

Rappold said she was aware the mayor was going to terminate these men, "as were the other aldermen. At least this time, I had the courtesy of a phone call."

"We had complaints before on these people, and nothing was done. So she (Frilot) just did it."

Budget crunch

Local districts face deficits for 1991, 1992 school years

BY TRACI BONNEY

While Gov. Ray Mabus isn't "crying wolf," he may be trying to alarm the wrong group of shepherds.

In a December 4 letter, Mabus told Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District Superintendent Robert Magee, along with other public school district leaders, "Mississippi faces a budget crisis of severe proportions, and nothing is in greater peril than education."

A proposed five percent reduction in education funds threatens to eliminate or curtail many elementary, secondary, community college and university programs.

Magee isn't taking the matter lightly; however, he also isn't flying into the panic that might be expected from a statement such as the one in Mabus' letter.

When asked what answers he gave to questions in an impact study conducted in November, Magee said a five percent reduction would cause a budget deficit both this and next year, and would also reduce the certified teaching staff in 1992, as well as cause the hiring of fewer non-certificated staff in 1992. On these four questions and a few others, Magee's answers concurred with those of the majority of the 152 superintendents who completed the study.

However, many of Magee's answers put the district in a minority position. He said the five percent reduction would not cause the elimination of programs in the 1991 school year, but may cause the elimination of elementary guidance counselors, elementary physical education programs and choral music in the 1992 year.

He commented, "We would eliminate only those things that

Graduation stays at stadium

BY TRACI BONNEY

Bay High's graduation tradition remains unbroken.

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board voted Monday to accept the recommendation of acting high school principal Billy Rhodes that the 1991 graduation ceremony be held at J.D. McCulloch Stadium. Those students and parents who attended the meeting left quietly after hearing the decision.

Superintendent Robert Magee said after the meeting that he brought Rhodes recommendation to the board after Rhodes took a vote among Bay High seniors and found that 75 percent of them wanted graduation in the stadium instead of the new $3.4 million, limited seating auditorium.

Also discussed at the meeting was the prospect that the City of Bay St. Louis may try to obtain 9.5 acres of land on Blue Meadow Road that was assessed to the school district, but that the district has no deed for and has not used.

Board member Jim Wilcox

asked that board attorney Lucien Gex "do whatever it takes to secure the land so they can't take it away from us."

Gex told the board he must find out what kind of suit the city will file before he can take any action. He speculated that

Supervisors discuss Bay Cove operation

BY TRACI BONNEY

Bay Cove Harbour's ship may not come in, if its proposed location is not allowed by state law.

Revs. Nathan Barber and Ron Skinner asked the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Wednesday to request from the State Tax Commission a definitive ruling about the legality of the planned Bay Cove Harbour gambling operation.

Board attorney Gerald Gex agreed that, according to the Tax Commission, any operation not directly on the Bay of St. Louis or in the Mississippi Sound is not allowed by law.

Gex added that the commission also gives a method for determining where the bay ends and the inland Jourdan River begins, but said he didn't know how to put that method to use.

When a gaming license applicant files, Gex said, that person or corporation must submit a description of where the proposed gambling facility will be located, and the legality of the location will be examined as part of the licensing process.

Gex finished by saying he

Chamber gathers county, city leaders to share ideas on dockside gambling

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The reality of dockside gambling drew community leaders together Monday for an initial meeting during which current legislation was discussed and bi-partisan needs were requested.

Basil Kennedy, president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, invited county, municipal and business leaders to meet and address "mutual interests, air differences and pull together."

Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre spoke to the group expressing the need to "try and find a way to put as many rules and regulations and restrictions" on incoming gambling, as possible,

"to close the door up front and open it as we see fit, to stop just anyone from coming in."

Favre expressed the need for regulations as to the location of ships and for the need to define appearance. "We don't want just anything out there."

Bay St. Louis, having the most shoreline footage involved, has already taken steps during its Thursday, Dec. 6 meeting to initiate controls on dockside gambling by restricting location to commercially zoned areas and by extending their city zoning a mile out from the shoreline.

Board of Supervisors attorney Gerald Gex said the county had no such legal jurisdiction over zoning as does Bay St. Louis, "I believe the county couldn't put any kind of zoning in that area."

Waveland Mayor Stella Frilot said as she understood it, Waveland's city boundaries end at the shore's edge, and all of the beach was zoned as residential.

The areas of potential development are those shorelines along the bay and the gulf. According to Gex's understanding of the present law, no inland waterways such as rivers or bayous are eligible for a dockside gambling vessel.

With the added restrictions of wetlands from Cedar Point to the Jourdan River, and from Bucaneer Park to Bayou Cadet (Caddy), Bay St.

Louis appears to be the predominately affected area.

Gex attempted to explain the percentage of taxation allowed during the first few years of operation. Four-tenths of one percent is allowed the first year, six-tenths of one percent the second year and eight-tenths of one percent the third year.

By October of 1993, a state gaming commission is expected to take over regulations, at which time percentages may or may not change.

OBITUARIES

FRANCIS G. MOORE MORGAN O'ROURKE JR.

FRANCIS GARY MOORE
Graveside services for Francis Gary "Frank" Moore, 82, of Pass Christian, were conducted Wednesday at Live Oaks Cemetery in back of Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian. He died at North Shore Regional Medical Center in Slidell December 10, 1990.

A Commander in the United States Navy in World War II, he was buried with full military honors. A member of the Naval Reserves, he was in active service from 1942 to the end of 1946.

Mr. Moore's pre-war Naval Reserve service included convoy duty to England. During the war, he commanded five ships; he was given the Legion of Merit for successfully leading a task force through the roughest seas ever recorded until then; and he led the minesweepers into Tokyo Harbor to clear the way for the Japanese surrender.

The son of the late Robert Moore and Leila Hardie Moore of New Orleans, he was born in Osegetatchie, Waterford County, Connecticut. After graduation from the Gunnery School, Washington, Conn., he attended Yale University before working for his father's investment banking company, Moore, Hyams in New Orleans. Subsequently he worked for McKesson, Parker, Blake Wholesale Druggists in New Orleans and then for Sea Train Lines in New York. He was operations manager of Sea Train in Houston until 1952 when he became a permanent resident of Pass Christian. He was then with George Engine Company of Harvey, La., from 1954 until his retirement in 1973. After Hurricane Camille, Mr. Moore moved his residence from Wolf River to Hancock County.

Always an ardent yachtsman, he raced in the Bermuda race, to Cuba and to Mexico and was a member of the Gulf Yachting Association for many years. As a young man he was taught to fly by Jimmie Wedell. He participated as a partner with his father in many golf tournaments up and down the eastern seaboard.

Mr. Moore is survived by his wife, the former Lorraine Werlein of New Orleans. His brother, Robert Moore, and his sisters, Isabella Moore Burguieres and Leila Moore Williams, predeceased him.

He was a member of the Pass Christian Yacht Club; an honorary life member of the Boston Club, New Orleans; an honorary member of the American Forestry Association and a former vestryman of Trinity Episcopal Church, Pass Christian.

Officiating at the Wednesday services were the Reverend Bronson Bryant and the Reverend Durrie Hardin.

Memorials may be made to the SPCA or to a charity of one's choice.

Riemann Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis was in charge of arrangements.

MORGAN O'ROURKE JR.

Morgan Charles O'Rourke Jr., 78, of Bay St. Louis, died Sunday, Dec. 9, 1990, in Bay St. Louis.

Mr. O'Rourke was a native of New Orleans. He was a member of St. Clare Catholic Church in Waveland, the Knights of Columbus Pere' Le Duc Council 1522 in Bay St. Louis, Waveland Senior Citizens, Retired Senior Volunteer Program in Bay St. Louis and the American Association of Retired Persons.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Mildred Donnaway O'Rourke of Bay St. Louis; a son, Ronald J. O'Rourke Sr. of Gretna, La.; two daughters, Mrs. Gail O'Rourke Deidrich of Gretna and Mrs. Mary Ann O'Rourke LeBreton of Slidell, La.; three brothers, Warren O'Rourke of Metairie, La., Irwin O'Rourke of Kenner, La., and Oliver O'Rourke of Mississippi; four sisters, Mrs. Althea Richardson and Mrs. Gloria Zimmer of New Orleans, Mrs. Marie Whited of San Angelo, Texas and Mrs. Yvonne Coppel of Philadelphia, Pa.; 10 grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Visitation was Tuesday evening at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis. Services were conducted Wednesday at St. Clare Catholic Church in Waveland. Burial was in Gulf Coast Memorial Cemetery Mausoleum in Bay St. Louis.

The family prefers memorials to the Hospice program of Memorial Hospital in Gulfport.

Firing

about," added Hubbard, "is that she gave me her word the night of the election, before the votes were counted, that nobody would be fired, and 24 hours later she fires two people. A person's word is their bond."

City Attorney Lucien Gex explained that according to the city charter, city employees, "serve at the pleasure of the mayor. No cause has to be ascribed."

If it were required for a reason to be given, continued Gex, "in effect, it would be the same as civil service. We don't have civil service."

Gex has served Waveland for 24 years, and within that time he states, "Of the few terminations we have had, the mayor has never had to go before the board...far as I know, the mayor always terminated them."

When asked of the firings, Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman said, "This is why I'm a firm supporter of civil service. The difference being, with civil service an employee could take a grievance to a committee and there it would be determined just or not."

"The mayor told me," added Weidman, "the personnel of the city serve at her pleasure. If that is so, we, the mayor and the board, need to establish some guidelines."

Hubbard said, "I have asked for an opinion from the city attorney about looking at the reasons for the firings."

"Stan (Weidman) asked Stella if he could see the records on these men and was told they are only open to the mayor and the department head. She did tell him he could come to her office and she would show him, but they would not be made public."

Police Chief Donald Dorn, having served on the Waveland Police Department for 24 years, said, "I received a letter through the main board to let them go. This is the mayor and board's decision, and I just follow orders."

"I had received complaints on the patrolman," said Dorn, "but you get those on any patrolman."

Dorn said he would rather not answer as to whether he received complaints on Tartavouille.

Tartavouille was reported to be seeking legal counsel concerning the dismissal. Attempts to reach him for comment were unsuccessful prior to press time, as it was said he was out of town.

Normand was reported to harbor no ill feelings towards the new mayor, claiming the dismissal to be politically motivated. Normand could not be reached prior to publication.

As far as Dorn could remember, the procedure of termination during this incident was no different than any in the past.

Ward 3 Alderman Curtis P. "Phil" Colson who had previously served two years on the board expressed his understanding of the mayor's power to fire and hire "as part of the administrative duties."

"We, the board of aldermen, are the legislative branch of government. We do have the authority to ratify any appointments and/or hiring and firing of department heads, but we as aldermen do not have the day-in and day-out involvement," Colson added, "I've seen this before. This is not the first time there have been hirings and firings without our approval."

Colson said he was aware of the mayor's reasons and found them to be justified. "I stand behind her action."

"I definitely see changes," continued Colson on the new administration. "Not so much in personnel, but in city services."

Rappold, in service on the board as either city clerk or alderman since 1972, addressed a current rumor about her being made Waveland City Clerk saying, "Ridiculous!"

"For five years I was city clerk. I have a perfectly good job in Pass Christian. If I had wanted to give up my job to work for Waveland, I would have run for mayor."

"I have no intention of leaving my job in Pass Christian. I already work for Waveland. I am an alderman."

Frilot said all appointed positions would be made before the board on December 19 for ratification.

As of now, Frilot said, she has no plans for change.

—Police department? "None planned."

—Fire department? "Not to my knowledge."

—Wastewater? "I am not the person to ask about that. I am only one member of the board and as far as I know everybody is pleased with the work."

"Performance (in a city job) is job security," added Frilot, "just as in any job."

CCD classes will be this Sunday from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the parish hall.

CYO members will provide free day care services for toddlers of parents attending St. Ann's 9:30 a.m. Mass each Sunday. The group would also like to thank everyone who contributed to the success of their bake sale last week.

Coffee and donuts will be served by CYO members in the parish hall this Sunday, Dec. 16, following St. Ann's 9:30 a.m. Mass. Anyone who ordered donuts may pick them up at that time.

The extra busy teens are having a "Kris Kringle Party" where they will exchange gifts Wednesday, Dec. 19 in the parish hall at 6 p.m. Immediately following, the group will go caroling through Klein Subdivision.

Father Justin will be hearing confessions on Saturday, Dec. 15 from 1 to 2 p.m. at St. Ann Church.

It is almost Christmas, and again this year we are giving baskets to needy families in our parish. A box has been placed in the rear of both churches for donations.

Sunday, Dec. 23, we will have a blessing of our new statues of Jesus, Mary and Joseph in front of St. Ann Church. The CCD will present a Christmas skit followed by caroling. Afterward refreshments will be served in the parish hall. Everyone is invited. Please try to attend.

According to Mary Caillier, chairman for St. Ann-St. John's Masquerade Dance to be held Saturday, Jan. 12 in the parish hall, tickets are now available from any members of the Parish Altar Society for $5 per person. Music will be furnished by Cornbeef and Cabbage.

Board whittles Hancock bills

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
Hancock County School Board agreed to pay Lincoln Builders of Ruston a $93,029.60 payment for work completed on Hancock High School's athletic field, bleachers, concessions and toilets, shrinking the balance owed to $4,000.

It was reported during the Monday, Dec. 10 meeting that a $28,000 balance remains for work on the school.

The board considered not paying the debts in full until all roof leaks are repaired and finishing work completed, for fear of being left wanting.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph supported payment assuring the board that all the work contracted includes a one-year warranty.

Randolph spoke of the sub-contract workers who were waiting to receive payment for work completed saying, "it would not be fair to hold up the payment because it would affect the small individual workers waiting to be paid."

The low bid for high school diplomas was accepted from Jostens Student's Supplies from Jackson.

Bids were opened for ten word processors and ten T.V. monitors for classrooms. The board placed the bids under advisement until junior/senior high school administrative principal Donald Hillman could assess the best buy.

Other business included: —Approval to purchase testing materials from SRA for the Special Education Dept. in the amount of $634.

—Approval to accept the lowest quote of $731 for a positive displacement blower for the sewage treatment plant at Gulfview Elementary School.

—Approval to advertise for bids for spring sports equipment, science equipment, and computer equipment.

—Approval of cancellation of lease for Lot 34, S/D #2, 16-9-16, for non-payment.

—Approval to lease Lot 34, S/D #2, 16-9-16, to Gregory L. Hazelwood for $144 per year for 25 years.

—Approval of claims dockets for all schools for the month of November 1990.

—Approval to pay Mississippi School Supply $6,211.30 for telescoping bleachers at the high school.

—Approval of the resignation of Joan Turbe as special education teacher at Gulfview Elementary School, December 21, 1990.

—Approval of the resignation of Kay Lovelace as varsity cheerleader sponsor, December 3, 1990.

—Approval to employ Leisa Blackwell as substitute detention teacher at Gulfview Elementary School.

—Approval for Barbara White to be the Quiz Bowl coach at the high school for the 1990-91 school year.

—Approval to employ Dr. Shampa Mukopadhyay, David Arnold Cain, Joyce Shavrese and Julie Murphy as substitute teachers for the high school for the 1990-91 school year.

—Approval for the fourth grade class at Gulfview Elementary School to go on an out-of-state field trip to the Audubon Zoo in New Orleans, La. on December 14.

Board member Carol Bustetter attending the Mississippi School Board Association convention in Jackson on October 29-31 received a certificate of achievement "for outstanding school board service in attending state, regional and national programs on boardmanship and education in general."

Humane Society offers free pet food for needy

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hancock County Humane Society, Inc., through the cooperation of Warden Ed Abson at the Waveland Shelter, starting this week will provide free dog and cat chow to needy pet owners of the community.

Thyla Rogers, animal assistance chairman said, "Warden Abson will be in charge of the distribution of the dog and cat food at the Waveland Shelter, Gulfside Drive, next to Fire Station II."

"There is a limited supply, and distribution has started and will continue though the holidays until it is exhausted," Rogers added.

Rogers emphasized, "This pet food has been purchased for those who are needy and their pets might go otherwise hungry during the Christmas season."

The Humane Society has made a special purchase of dog and cat chow at Wal-Mart, Waveland.

The donation of pet food on this large scale is the first time for the Humane Society, and Rogers said she hopes the organization will be able to do it again in the future.

The Humane Society has during the past year provided shots for dogs and cats in addition to their continuous support with the spay/neuter program.

Officials of the Humane Society urge all citizens to please provide proper shelter for all their animals, especially during the winter season.

The majority of funds for the Humane Society come from the Flea Market at the Civic Center, Coleman Avenue, Waveland, staffed by volunteers.

The organization receives all types of merchandise, including clothing which is sold at the Flea Market.

Persons interested in further information, spay/neuter program, or membership in the Hancock County Humane Society, can call 467-7686.

The Humane Society meets the third Monday of every month at the Waveland Library, Coleman Avenue, at 7:15 p.m. and visitors are welcome.

whole lot to do other than impose taxes; and provide police protection," said Gex.

Favre spoke out for increasing the gaming tax, implementing a machine stamp and an up-front tax on the local level.

Bay St. Louis Councilman Charles Scianna added, under the present law, the operators can claim lost revenue... "and we can't do anything to circumvent it by state and local laws."

Kennedy expressed a need for the leaders not to "discourage responsible locations. You don't want to tax it out of existence."

Gex suggested until a legal definition of gross revenue was decided by the state attorney general's office, all discussion of taxation possibilities were fruitless.

Scianna reminded everyone that a Mississippi Supreme Court decision is pending this month on the constitutionality of lotteries.

The state court will rule as to the legality of all games of non-skill. If ruled illegal, dockside boats may become less of a business attraction, being limited to primarily card games.

Filrot requested and received Gex's copy of the present state legislation to study, saying, "before I make any decisions or judgements as to what is best for Waveland, I want to look this over."

Chamber executive director Libby Roland took orders for copies of the two-inch thick document from several others present.

Kennedy said of the gathering, "We will distribute copies of the legislation, give them time to digest and discuss it among themselves and then reconvene at another time."

The entire Hancock County Board of Supervisors was present. Waveland was represented by Filrot and Aldermen Curtis P. "Phil" Colson and Stan Weidman.

Present for Bay St. Louis were Favre and councilmen Scianna, John W. Wilkerson, James J. Rutherford and representing James C. Thriffiley III was Jean Ann Thriffiley. The Bay St. Louis Business Association was represented by Ruth Thompson.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Wednesday afternoon Ames Kergosien and I were talking in front of the paper's office as an entire trainload of military equipment was passing through town.

I can recall the days of World War II when train after train full of troops passed through Hancock County.

Sunday at noon, while I was in Alexandria, La., the National Guard Unit of that city was heading for Fort Chaffee, Ark.

Things appear to be getting very serious in the Middle East, and we all should be concerned.

Reports that I received in Jackson on Tuesday of this week indicate there are a total of 7,170 men and women of the Guard and Reserves from the State of Mississippi who have been mobilized.

In addition to those who have been mobilized from Mississippi, we must also remember there are many others from our state involved in defending our country.

Mississippians have been at the forefront in the defense of our country for many years, and the Middle East crisis is no exception.

I wish all of those from our state and community the best of luck, and I am hoping and praying a solution will be found that will not involve the firing of a shot.

It was a big honor for Charles (Chuck) Ramsey to receive the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Outstanding Citizen of the Year Award.

Ramsey and his company, Bay Technical Associates, Inc., has made a big difference in Bay St. Louis and Hancock County.

He is very deserving of the honors he has received. Ramsey has done wonders with the appearance of the old Jitney Jungle building which now houses an industry employing some 100 or so folks, of which the majority reside in the Bay-Waveland area.

Bay Tech now supplies products worldwide.

We wish Ramsey and his company the best during the 1990's.

Congratulations once again, Chuck.

While on the subject of the Chamber banquet, I want to also recognize Mike Cuevas, JoAnn and James Lagasse, Nanette Murphree and Hilda Bourg on receiving a new chamber award.

The group was the recipient of the first Order of the Battered Boot Award for their efforts in promoting the county.

I think the five persons selected were all very deserving, as they have really worked hard the past year in promoting the area.

It was good to hear Bill Minor, the featured speaker at the chamber banquet.

I have known Bill for many years, and it was good to hear him talk about some folks such as "Squirrel Phillips" of Bay St. Louis and other state and federal political leaders.

My brother Felton and his wife Patsy have once again, with the help of many friends and neighbors, decorated their home for Christmas.

As many of you know, Felton is in the Air Force, and his decorations have a patriotic theme.

Their Christmas decorations have been award winners over the years, and their residence is located at 910 Victoria Street in Waveland.

The lights are to be turned on tonight, and there will be a special visit by Santa at 5:30 p.m. and the jolly old man is scheduled to appear again on Friday night.

I haven't seen the decorations this year, but I know previous decorations have been outstanding.

Will history repeat itself?

That question is being asked more today, perhaps, than ever before in the United States.

The question grows out of a book written in the 18th century entitled, "The Decline and Fall of the Athenian Republic."

The words of the author, Alexander Fraser Tytler, come back to haunt us. At the same time, perhaps, his words can awaken us. Mr. Tytler wrote:

"A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover that they can vote themselves money from the public treasury. From that moment on, the majority always votes for the candidates promising the most benefits from the public treasury with a result that a democracy always collapses over loose fiscal policy always followed by dictatorship. The average age of the world's greatest civilizations has been 200 years.

"These nations have progressed through the following sequence:

"From bondage to spiritual faith;

"From spiritual faith to great courage;

"From courage to liberty;

"From liberty to abundance;

"From abundance to selfishness;

"From selfishness to complacency;

"From complacency to apathy;

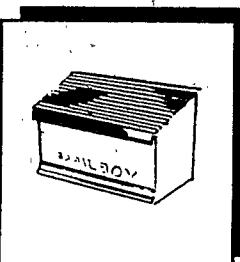

"From apathy to dependency;

"From dependency back into bondage."

Where, on the scale, would you place the United States today?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Buy American!

Dear Editor,

When I awoke December 7, the first thing I thought of was, this is Pearl Harbor Day.

I remembered where I was and exactly what I was doing 49 years ago when the news came over the radio that the Japanese had bombed our fleet in Pearl Harbor.

As war was declared against the Japanese, one saw signs everywhere saying, 'Remember Pearl Harbor.'

Now it seems that only a few have remembered that day of infamy. America is being bought by the Japanese, piece by piece.

Stores are loaded with Japanese goods and our highways are crowded with Japanese cars.

Over 250,000 Americans lost jobs this past six months.

If we Americans do not go back to supporting our own people and their products, I wonder what kind of life my great-grandchildren will have.

Do you think that one day they may have to call a descendant of Hiro Hito Mr. President?

Respectfully,
Nina S. Garcia
Waveland

Are we going to ban catfish and stingrays?

Dear Editor,

Jim Maness discusses with Senator Vic Frankiewicz his desire to see a total ban on all crab traps and gill nets from Bayou Cadet to Highway 90 (News Item, Nov. 11).

Mr. Maness cites his concern about the dangers of crab pots and provides as proof the case of an 11-year-old girl in Clermont Harbor who required 27 stitches from cuts from a commercial crab trap directly in front of Clermont Harbor beach.

For Mr. Maness' information, commercial crab traps aren't placed so close to the public beach areas where visitors are most likely to swim or wade. I've noticed that some traps are found just under piers, tied to the structure by the owners of these piers—(also residents of the beachfront like Mr. Maness). One can see these by driving along the beach at low tide. These also carry signs warning of trespassing on private property.

If a crab trap is found in the beach areas it most likely (if a commercial trap) is one lost far out in the deep water where commercial fishermen put their traps, having become accidentally freed from floats or moorings. These are occasionally swept up into the beach areas by rough, stormy waters.

I don't believe any sensible person would put a crab pot in beach areas where visitors might be swimming or where children might be wading.

However, there are a great many other natural or artificial hazards beneath the surface of the beach waters to endanger visitors. I've picked up several pieces of broken glass, quart beer bottles, in my cast net while throwing the net for mul-

let. Perhaps these were tossed overboard from some fun-seeker's boat?

Then, it is commonly known that the waters off the beaches are full with stingrays that lay on the sand bottom ready to attack any unfortunate who might recklessly wade out and step on one. I've been told by one boy, who showed me the scar on his abdomen, that he was attacked by an angry stingray that flipped up and gored him as he swam over it.

Also one should consider the great many large, jagged rocks and reefs, oyster shells, broken-off old pilings with ragged splinters, and pieces of old, rusted metal from sunken boats plus many, many other dangerous hazards beneath the surface of the waters.

Are we going to pass laws banning stingrays and catfish (that also have sharp, nasty barbs) or other natural hazards? Does Mr. Maness or Senator Frankiewicz believe that stingrays or other species will obey such a law?

How much better to protect tourists and visitors by placing on the popular beaches warning signs. Anyone recklessly ignoring these notices would be doing so at their own risk. Being aware of these hidden dangers, they might take steps, such as wearing proper protective clothing, etc.

Finally, like so many others who've complained about gill nets in the Waveland beach areas, I agree that gill nets should be removed far out away from the beaches. These are indeed a nuisance!

Sincerely,
Paul D. Gilbert

Bay Business Association reflects on successful year

To the Editor:

Memories and accomplishments during 1990 of the Bay St. Louis Business Association are many. Beginning in January we were off and running, getting ready for the Krewe of Real People Mardi Gras parade, in which many of our members rode and had a wonderful time, followed by plans for the April 'Cajun Night' Concert in the Park, where the crayfish were as hot and spicy as the music.

The music hadn't stopped before we were hard at work tying up the loose ends of the 1990 Beachfront Festival. Over 200 people devoted time and energy to make the 1990 festival the greatest ever!

We went back to the drawing board in July, planning the August concert.

The Pat Murphy Band made us dance until we dropped right into the plans for our first Oktoberfest.

The calendar slipped right by me as the association planned its contributions to Hancock's Red Ribbon Christmas, which is still going on. Red ribbons are everywhere you look and the Christmas spirit is apparent in every smiling face.

Many new members joined the Bay St. Louis Business Association this year. I want to thank each of you for your participation and cooperation in our many undertakings.

To list the names of the countless people, or try to figure the countless hours of dedication and energy that has been expended for these endeavors, is beyond even trying to accomplish, but I must say a huge "thank you" to each and every one who was a part of our activities.

Particularly, I wish to thank the city of Bay St. Louis and its representative, Mike Cuevas, who worked so diligently with the association to accomplish its goals and projects.

Sincerely,
Ruth Thompson

Mr. Pettibone said his company could find a ready market, but in order to give the home people a chance, they are going to sell locally and are willing to take less money.

—After a lapse of several months, it was decided last Saturday at the regular monthly meeting of the city Board of Mayor and Aldermen that the tax-collector proceed at once to collect taxes from the college and convent of this city. The Echo deeply considers this as a forward move on the part of the city administrators, but it must be admitted that the action is meeting with almost universal approval. The college is a big institution and operated for revenue, and while the convent is operated on a similar plan, it cannot be denied that it is a blow for this institution, and it will be hard to comply with the enactment owing to its weak financial condition. The convent is not accorded the patronage it deserves. However, we applaud the bravery of the board in its just and prominent move.

are not needed for accreditation."

Magee said transportation will not be curtailed in the 1991 year if the reduction passes, nor would the reduction cause the district to lay off non-certificated staff in 1991.

When asked if the reduction would affect accreditation in the district, Magee said he initially answered that it might, but now feels confident that it will not.

The district did not increase its district maintenance budget in 1991, but it would request a tax increase of seven to 10 percent in 1992, he added.

A five percent reduction would not cause an immediate shortage of classroom supplies for 1991, nor would it affect extracurricular activities for 1991, prevent critical maintenance from being done or affect health or safety standards in the district, Magee said.

The last question concerned the school district's ability to meet a proposed graduation requirement of one-half unit of computer literacy in 1995. Magee said the district is able to meet the requirement.

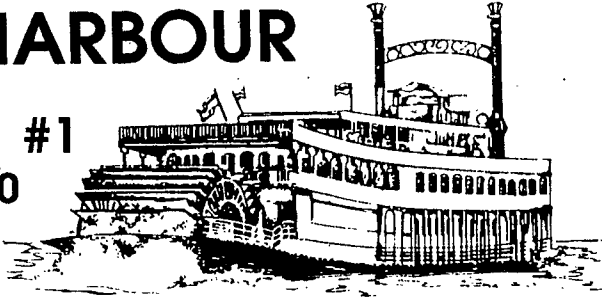

In his letter, Mabius said the funding cuts that may be required could translate into an average cut of $275,000 per school district. The Bay-Waveland District faces a reduction of $169,889.55, far below the average.

In other local districts, possible deficits are as follows: Hancock County — $197,397.25; Harrison County — $851,250.35; Pass Christian Separate — $107,640.70; Picayune — $297,804.80.

How to Prevent Accidents When Digging Near Underground Gas Lines

Natural gas is delivered through a system of underground piping. Some of these pipes might be located beneath the ground where your excavation work is to be done. Personal injuries and property damage can occur if the pipes are struck or disturbed by digging, drilling or blasting.

Before excavating, drilling or blasting, you or your contractor should thoroughly check the surrounding area to see if any gas pipeline warning signs are in or near the proposed work site.

Prevent an accident-call in advance

If any warning signs are nearby, call the number shown on the sign or contact the company at the number shown below and indicate the county, township and section in which you will be working. Please call 48 hours in advance of any excavation operations; the phone line is in operation seven days a week, 24 hours a day. If we have pipelines near the area, we'll be happy to dispatch trained field personnel to mark or stake the facilities at no cost to you.

A Christmas present

KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

My column this week may seem a bit unusual, even for me. When we discussed Christmas presents recently, my sister-in-law Jennifer first asked for an 8" x 10" picture of her husband Bob, my youngest brother who is stationed in Saudi Arabia with the Army. Well, I received a letter last week saying she had changed her mind and wanted something else. So, here it is:

A COLLECT CALL TO THE PRESIDENT

BY JENNIFER BONNEY
OPERATOR: This is a person-to-person collect call to Mr. George Bush. Is Mr. Bush there?
SECRETARY: Please hold.
PRESIDENT: Hello, this is George Bush.
OPERATOR: I have a collect call from a Mrs. Jennifer Bonney. Will you accept the charges?

Silence.

JENNIFER: Mr. Bush, this is Jennifer Bonney. I am the wife of Specialist Robert N. Bonney of the United States Army, stationed in Saudi Arabia.

I have a few questions to ask you, if you don't mind.

Robert is 21 years old and I am 20. We met and began dating when we were 16 and 15. Yes, that's right — high school sweethearts. We have two beautiful children: Stephen, who is 2 years old, and Alivia, five months old. No, we have no regrets.

Mr. President, when can my husband come home?

You see, my husband is sweet, caring, gentle, honest — sometimes too honest — my best friend and a great daddy.

Stupid is one thing he isn't. Mr. Bush. He doesn't want to die for oil, or anything else, for that matter. If he did want to die, he'd be in a state mental hospital, not the Army.

Yes, Mr. Bush, there is a difference between the two.

Just why is my husband over there? Is he really there to protect America as we know it? If so, then that's no problem.

But to protect oil? I don't think so, at least not any more.

Or is he there because someone backed himself into a corner and "accidentally" took all of America with him? Do you know of anyone who would do something like that, Mr. President?

Never mind. It doesn't matter.

So, if war winds up being the only alternative left and my husband dies, please tell me how I am supposed to go on living "the great American way" knowing my husband died for a country that will remember him only once a year like it does the Vietnam vets.

How will he ever be able to "be all he can be," as the Army's slogan says, if he doesn't live long enough to get back home?

But most of all, how do I tell our children that Daddy will not come home? Do I tell them Dad-dy's life was "expendable" and only worth the price of oil? Or do I tell them he died so America can go on being America?

They won't care, Mr. President. All they will want is their daddy.

Yes, my husband took an oath to "defend, honor and protect" his country when he joined the Army, but the key word here is "country," Mr. President, not "George Bush."

Please, please, Mr. President, tell me when my husband can come home.

More silence.

JENNIFER: Thank you, operator. I'll try back later.

OPERATOR: Okay, Mrs. Bonney. Thank you for choosing our company.

JENNIFER: Operator?

OPERATOR: Yes?

JENNIFER: Merry Christmas.

OPERATOR: Merry Christmas, Mrs. Bonney. Click.

NASA's Carter named Federal Employee of Year

The Mississippi Coast Association of Federal Administrators, representing approximately 26,000 federal employees in Jackson, Harrison and Hancock counties, selected NASA's Ronnie E. Carter as Federal Employee of the Year at ceremonies Nov. 30 at Keesler Air Force Base Officer's Club.

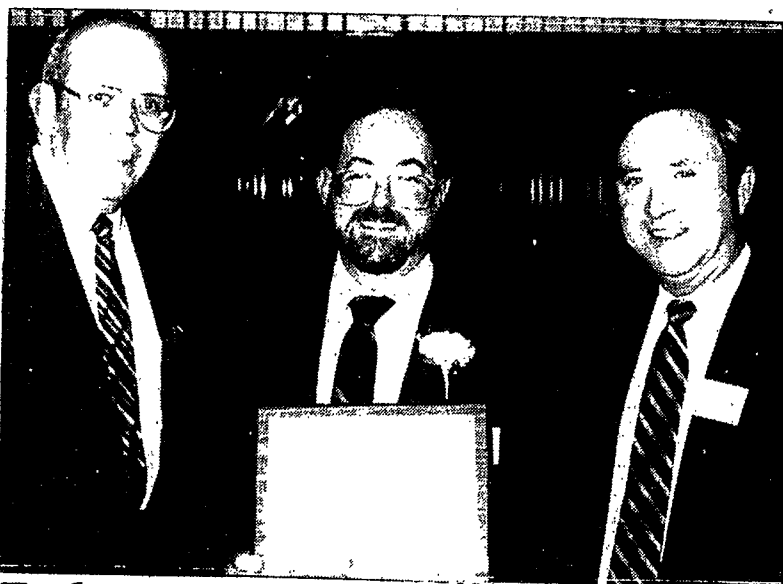

The 55 federal agencies on the Coast nominated 18 employees for this signal honor. Each of the 18 represent the finest in federal employees, and the judges had a difficult job in selecting the winner.

Carter, with NASA at John C. Stennis Space Center, is Financial Management Division chief and a 20-year veteran of federal service. Although he had earned a master's degree, he has continued his pursuit of education and has substantial graduate credit beyond his MBA to further enhance his value to the NASA organization.

A strong participant in community affairs, a deacon in his area church, and a volunteer teacher with his church school group, he serves on the board of directors of the Gulf Coast Bible Camp.

Of particular note is Carter's involvement in an outreach program directed to Honduras where he serves as president. During the past two years he has made three trips to Honduras at considerable personal expense to provide oversight and evaluation of the program. Carter resides in Pearl River, La.

By the Reverend
Dr. Arthur E. Johnson

Recently I made a comment to a national politician regarding our motives for being in the Arabian desert. I had the feeling that our nation was fulfilling, at least in part, its destiny to be a leader among nations. I am convinced that someone needs to stop Sadaam and keep the world safe for "little guys."

The politician retorted that our motive was only oil and that if these events had occurred in Middle Africa we would certainly not have sent in the Marines. I am sure there is truth in what he says. Yet, the incident left me very uncomfortable as a Christian who attempts to inform my motives with love, justice and the like.

As I walked away from the conversation, I had a worrisome feeling concerning the way we Americans have come to view not only ourselves as a nation, but one another as well.

We no longer give credit to righteous motives. If there is anything that is base, representing our lower nature, that operates in any way as a part of our motive for doing anything, that base motive takes all the credit for our behavior.

We generally do not believe that we are involved in the Persian Gulf out of any sense of what is right. We believe we are there simply to protect our access to oil. And no one wants to hear of anything else that might be part of our motive.

On a more personal level, we relate to one another as if the only reason a person does anything is because of self-interest, or some strong uncontrolled passion, or something even more insidious and possibly evil. What kind of people are we that we have so short-circuited our own complexity and can only see what is negative, dark or loathsome in ourselves?

I can only speculate many of us have been hurt so much and so often by other's self-interest that we are afraid not to note what that self-interest is. In other words, we are defensive and tend only to what might hurt us.

Sadly, in the process we lose sight of what a wonderful creature each of us is. We become negative people with our thinking controlled by fear. We don't trust what people say and are always looking for "hidden motives" that must be operative if other people are to make any sense to us. In short, we have distorted our perceptions and cannot see reality, only our preferred negative part of it.

This kind of thinking seems grounded in the view that people are depraved, bad, basically evil. Although some Christians in a small minority claim to hold this view, most don't actually believe that we are so thoroughly wicked. In fact, Orthodox Christian teaching is clear about the fact that God created humankind "good."

This goodness is our basic nature and what we should expect to find in anyone if we just scratch the surface a bit. The Church has always taught that in addition to our basic goodness each of us is also a "sinner." What this means is that our basic good nature is twisted, deformed, bent, crooked, but, with the exception of a very few of us, not destroyed.

This view is quite different from the way most of us seem to operate with one another and in our thinking about what motivates us. If we assume people are good, we would relate to them quite differently than if we thought that they were depraved, wicked.

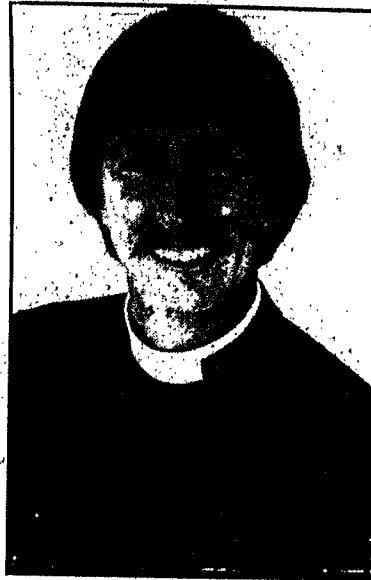

Likewise, if we assume the goodness and keep our eyes peeled for the distortions, we are more likely to attain a balanced view and more likely to be respectful, as well as notice what might be simply uncorrupted goodness.

Thus, as a Christian, I am prepared to see what is there, to note whatever is from our common disorder and also not to lose sight of the wonder each of us is in our still existing, pristine goodness.

I do believe that we are in Saudi Arabia, poised for war, at least in part, out of the goodness of our heart. Yet, there are other aspects to our motives that seem to get all the press. I pray we can continue to be caring about our world and the people in it even when it is not altogether in our self-interest.

Perhaps it all depends on what you love. If you love only yourself, then all your motives are grounded in self-interest.

If you love your children, or freedom, or fairness, or any of a number of other intangibles, then your motives are quite likely to be grounded in these other loves.

As scripture says: "God so loved the world, that he gave his only-begotten son, to the end that all that believe in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:13).

And we are made in His image which does not mean we look like Him, but that we are like Him in the intangibles. Like Him, we love and in the loving we have been known to make all sorts of sacrifices. We are not depraved, but rather we are children of God. We do not have single motives for doing anything, but rather we are complex creatures capable of great creativity, like our creator.

I hope the next time "our national politician" votes on an issue or considers someone's motives, he will judge from the view that God created humankind "good" and in His image and not from the perspective that depravity mars us all.

Believing in God is not enough. One must also put into the everyday practice of life what the Church teaches us about ourselves and life.

Happy Holidays!

Blessed are the meek?

The Bible says in Matthew 5:5, "Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth."

The thought of the meek inheriting the earth seems to conflict with the normal way someone gets to the top of the success ladder in this world.

If we do not believe the Holy Scriptures are totally inspired by God, we can easily set this verse aside. But what if we believe that the Bible is, in fact, the road map for our life? Then we must seek further into those things we do not understand.

According to Webster's New

Riverside Dictionary, the word "meek" means "showing patience and humility; submissive."

In the eyes of the world, meekness is thought to be an almost undesirable quality. Many think of it as an inferior trait.

Jesus said, however, that these people would inherit the earth. You may ask how someone who is meek can ever end up on top.

We need to understand that "meek" does not mean "weak."

I want to look at the qualities Webster attributes to one who is meek.

The first word is "patience." Hebrews 6:12 tells us, "That ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises."

Someone who is meek does not sit around and get walked on, but stands relentlessly on the promises of God.

The Bible says in Isaiah 40:31, "But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength."

As long as we continue to stand on the promises of God, he will give us the strength to continue.

We also need to look at the word "submissive." Part of coming into the body of Christ is turning our lives over to Jesus.

In order to turn ourselves over to Jesus, we must learn to be submissive to him.

When Jesus walked the earth, he was submissive to his father in heaven. We today must learn to be submissive to the Spirit of God. It is our submission to the Holy Spirit that will allow us to overcome the evil in this world.

God has reserved an inheritance for those who are patient and submitted to him. That inheritance is the world.

"And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end, to him I will give power over the nations." — Revelation 2:26.

On feeling used

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

"It's been a long time since we talked," a friend told me recently on the telephone. "Of course, you know I need something."

"Yes, I know," I concurred with a wince, quickly recollecting that she rarely called except to dump on me. Friends do not mind being dumped on frequently, but they do resent being used exclusively for a dumping ground.

It is a disconcerting, sinking feeling to realize that many people contact you only when they need you. When they call or come, you get the overpowering, oppressive feeling that, for them, your only worth is in being used.

The worst thing about being used is that you feel like a thing which is at the disposal of anyone who is cold enough to make you into a dumpster, a tool for accomplishing something, or a vehicle for getting from point A to point B. That stings: that others are relishing you as a thing, not as a human being.

Notwithstanding, the same users go on calling themselves your friends, although they don't even bother to disguise the purpose of their communications with you: "You know I need something."

One would think that they might have some trace of shame, some little bit of hesitation. Rather, the willingness of the victim seems to be nothing more than a spur to be forward—and cold.

"Love your neighbor as yourself," takes on special meaning when it comes to using others.

In the thought of Jesus, the master psychologist, it is indeed saying that whoever treats another as a thing has first looked upon himself/herself as a thing. Further, it is saying that no one will find it feasible to use someone else after learning to appreciate her/his own person.

Jesus also warned us against using people when he gave us the command: "Treat others the way you would have them treat you" (Mt. 7: 12).

Since no one wants to be used, it should be unthinkable that anyone could dare to use anyone else. Unthinkable it may be, but we do it more often than we care to admit, even the so-called best of us. We complain loudly and continuously about being used; yet, we continue to use as we are used.

The master turns it up a notch higher: "This is my commandment: love one another as I have loved you" (Jn. 15: 12).

That is no advice. That is a command so all-inclusive, so powerful, and so scary that it should make us shake with awe on the one hand and jump for joy on the other. Can you imagine that?

Being loved by someone the same way Jesus loves her/him? Loving someone the same way Jesus loves you? One could almost die from the realization of living or being loved that much.

The implications and applications of that command are as numerous as the human situations which we face throughout our lifetime.

It is downright fascinating and wonderful to reflect that our whole life is wrapped up in such an intriguing command, so that there is nothing we can think, say or do which is not completely blanketed and ruled by this command.

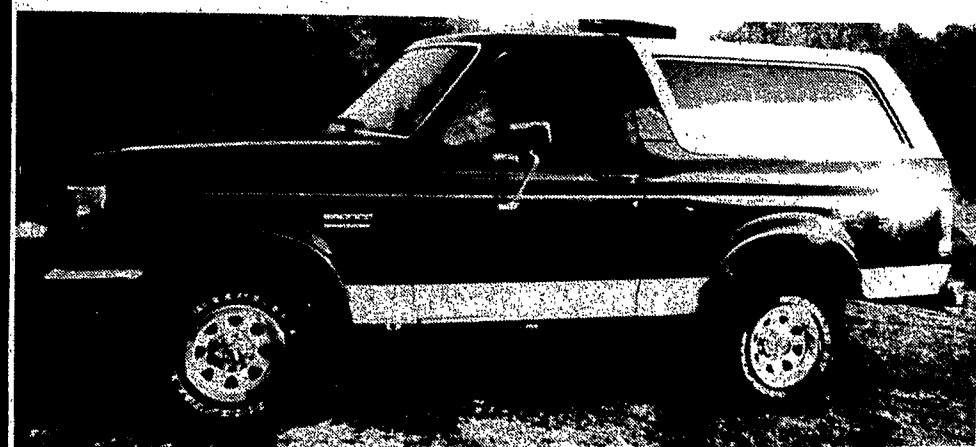

But Jesus never used anyone. On the contrary, he discriminated in favor of those who were used by everyone else: the rejects in the streets, the down-trodden, public sinners, derelicts. If we, then, are commanded to love each other just as Jesus loved us, we cannot use anyone, not even those who are castaways.

Following the Golden Rule and the command of Jesus to love one another as he loves us, we need to question all our attitudes, our motives, our moves to manipulate others into our agenda, and, above all, our willingness to serve others as Jesus did.

Broccoli—healthy choice for holiday menus

Broccoli, one of the more popular of America's fresh vegetables, is an excellent holiday vegetable—cooked or raw.

Some 90 percent of the nation's fresh broccoli comes from the lush fields of California, yet oddly enough the first commercial grown broccoli was grown and harvested in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Whether you plan a home garden or commercial acres, uniformity of climate has a lot to do with the quality and production yield of broccoli.

In addition to California, other growing areas include northern states such as Ohio, Colorado and Oregon, and southern states such as Texas and Florida.

California's broccoli yields, particularly along the coastal valleys such as the Salinas Valley, are geared much to climate. The famous Salinas Valley, where the bulk of quality broccoli is grown, boasts temperatures favorable to commercial production of this crop.

The mean temperature requirements to grow broccoli are similar to those of cabbage, which grows best at monthly means of 60° to 70°. As the monthly temperature goes above 60° F., yields and quality are very seriously reduced.

Once the broccoli is harvested in the fields, it is rushed with care to central packing sheds where it is washed and packed for the ultimate consumer.

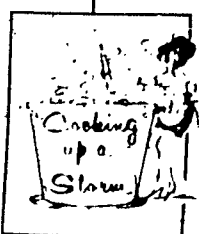

It is important to remember that broccoli is one of the most perishable commodities grown for the commercial market. Buy only the amount of broccoli you are able to properly refrigerate for those meals in which it is to be featured.

What should you look for when shopping for lush broccoli? The consensus says to look for a firm, compact cluster of small flower buds, with none opened enough to show the bright yellow flower.

Bud clusters should be dark green or sage green, or even green with a decidedly purplish cast. Stems should not be too thick or tough.

What should you avoid when shopping for fresh broccoli? Avoid broccoli with spread bud clusters, enlarged or open buds, yellowish green color, or wilted condition.

These are signs of overmaturity and over-long display. Also avoid broccoli with soft, slippery watersoaked spots on the bud cluster. The latter are signs of decay.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

I'm always delighted at Christmastime to receive a brightly-adorned jar of a friend's "special" condiment or conserve or sauce or whatever, or a bowl or basket or other container of someone's "special" cookies or cake or bread, or, again, whatever, aren't you?

It tells us not only that the giver is thinking of us at this special time of year, but it also puts a personal stamp of thoughtfulness on the delectables, in my opinion!

I like to embellish my homemade "sweet thoughts" or "savory thoughts" as the case may be, by giving them in pretty colorful bowls or baskets or other containers, so that the recipient may still enjoy part of the gift after the edibles are long gone.

My kitchen is wonderfully redolent these days with the aroma of brown sugar and pecans a-baking, as I turn out batch after batch of that old-time treat, burnt sugar cookies, as they've been known in my family as far back as memory serves me. They also go by a more elegant title, "Williamsburg Confections" and are said to have been just as popular way back in Colonial Days in Old Williamsburg, Va., as they are today, in restored Williamsburg and all over the country as well.

I usually double the recipe, then make batch after batch. I have found that tripling the recipe simply doesn't work, at least not for this cook, as the mixture becomes much too unwieldy. Here's:

WILLIAMSBURG CONFECTIONS

1 egg white
1 cup light brown sugar
1/8 tsp. salt
1 scant, level Tbsp. flour
1 cup chopped pecans
Beat the egg white to a stiff froth (I prefer a wire whisk for this). Mix the brown sugar with the flour and salt, and add ever so gradually to the egg white, then gently fold in the pecans.

Drop the mixture by small, rounded teaspoonfuls (I use a demi-tasse spoon or other small spoon) onto greased cookie sheets. Be sure to leave space between the cookies, as always when baking drop cookies, as they tend to spread during baking.

Bake in a 300 degree oven for approximately 12 to 15 minutes, just barely, barely brown-tinged. Let the cookies sit a bit before removing from the cookie sheets. That's all there is to it—but, oh, the taste!

One of my sons likes these when truly "burnt sugar" cookies, so I let his cookies scorch a bit on the bottom. I like them that way also at times. And, one of my grandsons likes these delectables minus the pecans, so I bake some of them that way!

Feeding a crowd for Christmas

The South, especially Mississippi, has a long tradition of showing hospitality to our guests. One way we've always exhibited our generosity is to serve bountiful meals.

This behavior is especially popular during the holiday season with huge amounts of food prepared for large crowds at parties, buffets and sit-down dinners.

The hostess may start preparing foods days in advance of the meal. So much food, so little refrigerator space. Where will it all go?

There's a tendency by even the most careful cooks, to leave food out on the counter or table longer than usual because refrigerator space is cramped or because guests are still "grazing."

This can be a dangerous habit, especially where poultry, seafood and meats are concerned.

Bacteria causes food poisoning. Bacteria grows best in lukewarm foods. Never let foods stand at room temperature for more than two hours, including preparation, storage and serving time.

Keep meats hot by using an electric hot tray or chafing dish. Small candle warming units may not keep foods hot enough.

Cream pies, puddings, seafood salads, and many other dishes made with eggs, fish, meat and poultry need to be kept cold.

Don't put out large quantities of these foods at one time. Serve only what is needed and replace often so foods keep as cold as possible.

Serve these foods in containers that can be stored in the refrigerator and then be brought directly to the table.

Another option would be to serve in a dish nestled in crushed ice.

BUYING THE RIGHT SIZE TURKEY

Turkey comes in a variety of sizes and forms to fit everyone's holiday meal plans. This includes whole fresh or frozen, self basting, pre-stuffed or in parts for the small family or those who prefer white or dark meat.

Do not purchase pre-stuffed, fresh, whole turkeys. They may be a time saver, but they are a risk in terms of food safety. Whatever your choice, buying the right amount of turkey is important.

You can figure on 1 pound of turkey per person. If the turkey is pre-stuffed, allow 1 1/4 pounds per person. This will provide generous servings with enough left over for second day dishes or planned overs.

Leftover turkey will keep in the refrigerator for three to four days providing proper food safety precautions were taken during the initial preparation and serving of this delightful holiday treat. Use stuffing and gravy within one or two days.

Remember, store leftovers correctly and promptly following your holiday meal.

Ray sets DSU butterfly record

Five individuals from the Delta State University men and women's swimming and diving teams have the top times in the latest New South Intercollegiate Swim League statistics.

Coach Ronnie Mayers' women have also the best times in the 400-yard medley relay and the 400 free relay.

Freshman Darby Parham of Memphis, Tenn., has top times in four events, including the 1,000-yard free (11:04.74) and 100 backstroke (1:04.27), the 200 back (2:17.36) and the 200 individual medley (2:18.77).

Teammate Susanne Mims, a senior from Columbus, has the best times in the 500 and 100-yard free races with 26.43 second and 57.71 second clockings, respectively.

The 400 medley relay team of Parham, Amy Teater, Beth Billings and Mims has a top time of 4:29.20 while the 400 free relay team of Laura Hubbard, Kristi Taylor, Daphne Moore and Mary Beth Lobenstein have a best of 4:00.58.

Junior Tedd Gilbert of Spring, Texas, has the league's best time of 4:59.78 in the 500-yard free, while teammate Lonnie Ray, a junior from Bay St. Louis, has a best of 56.89 seconds in the 100-yard butterfly.

Tigers fall to Pass Pirates; take on SSC Thursday night

The Bay High Tigers felt the loss of starters David Weems and Calvin Thigpen in Tuesday night's game against Pass Christian. The Pirates claimed a 70-48 victory.

Pass Christian's star player Sherman Zanders chipped in 23 points and nine rebounds, while Bay High's scoring was led by Mike Scharp with 14 points. "We were a little handicapped with two senior guards (Weems and Thigpen) being out," said Tiger Coach Michael Ladner.

"Some sophomores got to play and did a good job, but it wasn't enough to overcome Pass Christian's experience."

"We could have played them more closely if everyone was healthy," he said.

Tigers scoring were Travis Collins with 11 points, seven rebounds and five steals. Trystan Robertson had six rebounds and 4 points.

Others scoring for Bay High were Mayfield, 6; Couch, 4; Mazarias, 4; Necaise, 3; and Whavers, 2.

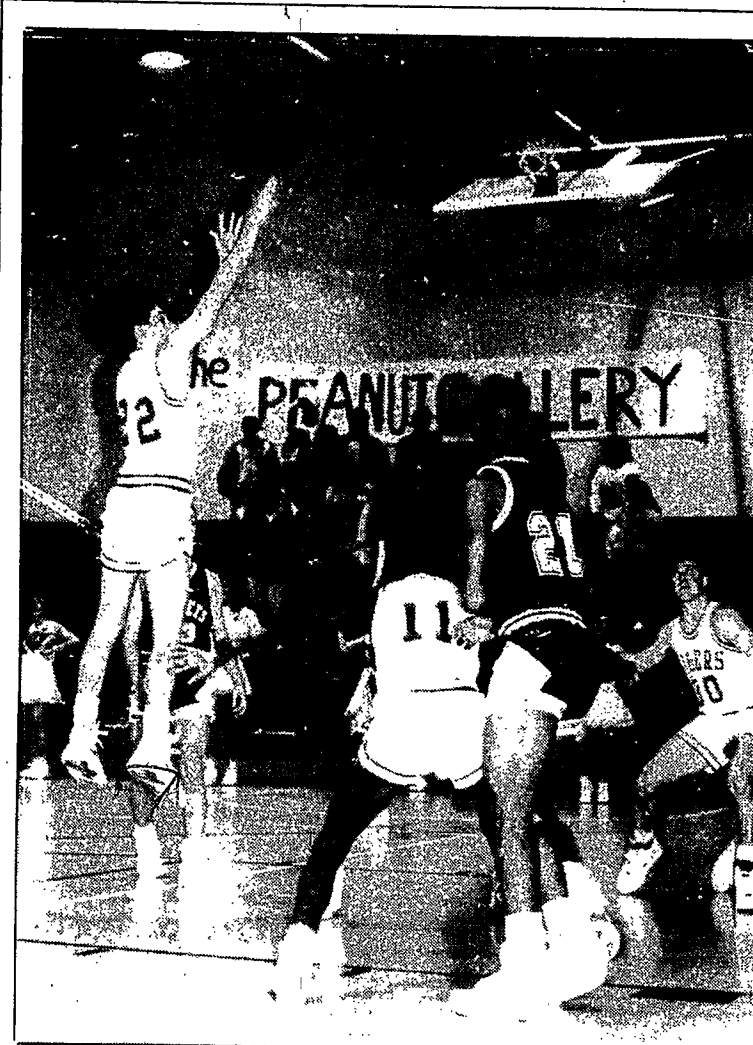

Pass Christian players Burnell Dedeaux scored 8 points and six rebounds; Tracy Watts, 6 points and six rebounds. Additional points were added by Delavallade, 7; Laphand, 5; Watson, 5; Rials, 4; Crawford, 2; Page, 2; Jacobs, 2; Nicholson, 2; Henderson, 2; and M. Dedeaux, 2.

Bay St. Louis will host the Bay High Tournament beginning Thursday night. They will face St. Stanislaus at 8:30 p.m.

"Calvin Thigpen will be back, but Weems won't," said Ladner. "As always, we expect a close, competitive game against the Rock-A-Chaws. We are about the same size."

"Without Weems, we have a mixture of experience and youth. We are hoping for a good ball game."

David Weems, who averages 27.2 points per game, is unable to start Thursday night due to an injury.

JV Rocks defeat Tigers 45-41

The host St. Stanislaus junior varsity Rock-A-Chaws edged rival Bay High Tigers 45-41 Monday in a closely played basketball matchup.

In the first half of play, the Tigers held narrow leads, with 9 points in the first period to SSC's 8, and 12 points in the second period to the Rocks' 10.

However, the tide turned in the second half, when the Rocks scored 11 points in third period action to the Tigers' 8, and 16 points to the Tigers' 12 to clinch the game.

SSC coach Andy Kivlan said, "The boys worked together as a team, both on fast-break offense and pressure defense."

Lee Palmer and Troy Schwant "sparked the defense," Kivlan commented, while Imari Esters and Ray Ladner led the scoring with 13 points each, and Andy Rethmeyer went four for five from the free throw line.

Kivlan added that SSC's "strong second half" was the turning point in the game.

"The boys never gave up. They kept running with the ball until they went ahead. After that, they kept the pressure on and wouldn't let the Tigers back in the game."

The Rock-A-Chaws next host the Pass Christian Pirates tonight at 5.

SSC honors athletes at awards banquet

St. Stanislaus High School held its annual fall sports award banquet recently to honor members of the Rock-A-Chaw football and cross country teams and their respective coaches and managers.

Receiving the Mr. Rock-A-Chaw award, the highest honor afforded a participant, and voted on by his teammates, were senior Neil Alford, for football, and Brian Brooks for cross country.

Neil Alford

Brother Patrick McGinity, SSC cross country coach, also singled out Drew Scaffide for the coach's award and Bryan Carter received the Phidippides award.

Special recognition was given in football by head coach Ken Lyons to team captains Neil Alford, Paul Johnson and Ken Booker. Galen Smith received the offensive lineman award and Scott Peterson was cited with the defensive lineman award.

The offensive back award was merited by Mike Lee and Ken Booker. Paul Johnson received the defensive back award.

The coach's award in football went to Mickey Quinlan, Kerry Wittmann and Bill Carriagee.

In cross country, two-year letterman awards were presented to Brian Brooks and Nick Walker.

Other lettermen in cross country were Chris Kehoe, Scott Marachal, Brian Platz, Drew Scaffide, Bryan Carter and Gilly Chamberlain.

In football, Lyons gave special recognition to members of the team who had played varsity since their freshman year.

Those honored for four years of 'distinguished service' were Robbie Bergeron, Robbie Bourgeois, Mark Carter, Paul Johnson, Brian Martin, Bubba O'Brien and Galen Smith.

Receiving two-year service plaques in football were Ken Booker, Scott Peterson, Robbie Bourgeois, Bubba O'Brien, Wade Weidman, Robbie Bergeron, Paul Johnson.

Sal Palmisano, Steven Bradley, Vince Altose, Neil Alford, Freddie West, Mark Carter, Galen Smith, Brian Martin and Stuart Favre.

Lyons also took advantage of the opportunity to present the members of the Rock-A-Chaw football team who were named All-District. Galen Smith, offensive linebacker; Scott Peterson, defensive end/punter; Ken Booker, offensive linebacker; Mike Lee, defensive back; Paul Johnson, defensive back; and Neil Alford center.

Other Rock-A-Chaws who were given honorable mention in the district were Mickey Quinlan, defensive back; Sal

Brian Brooks

Palmisano, defensive lineman; Kerry Wittmann, defensive end; Tate Thrifley, running back; and Mark Carter, defensive lineman.

Awards for academic excellence were awarded to cross county team members David Bell, Gilly Chamberlain, Dale DeCamp, Neil Heitzmann, Frank Kerbl, Scott Marachal, Drew Scaffide, Nick Walker and Jimmy Williams.

In football, academic excellence awards went to Neil Alford, Brian Allen, Robbie Bourgeois, Bill Carriagee, Mark Carter, Mike Davidge, Bill Dre-

Wildcats boast 8-2 record

The Pearl River Wildcats are breaking for the Christmas holidays with a very impressive 8-2 overall ledger and 1-1 South Division mark.

For Peter Georgian, the Wildcats' head coach, the first semester action has been better than what he had expected.

"We have more fire power than I thought we could muster," said Georgian.

After 10 games, the Wildcats are averaging 98.3 points per contest while allowing the opponent to 80. Five of the 10 games the Wildcats broke the 100-point magic mark.

From three-point range, the Wildcats are shooting 44 percent. As a team, the Cats are hitting 59 percent from the floor and 72 percent from the free-throw line.

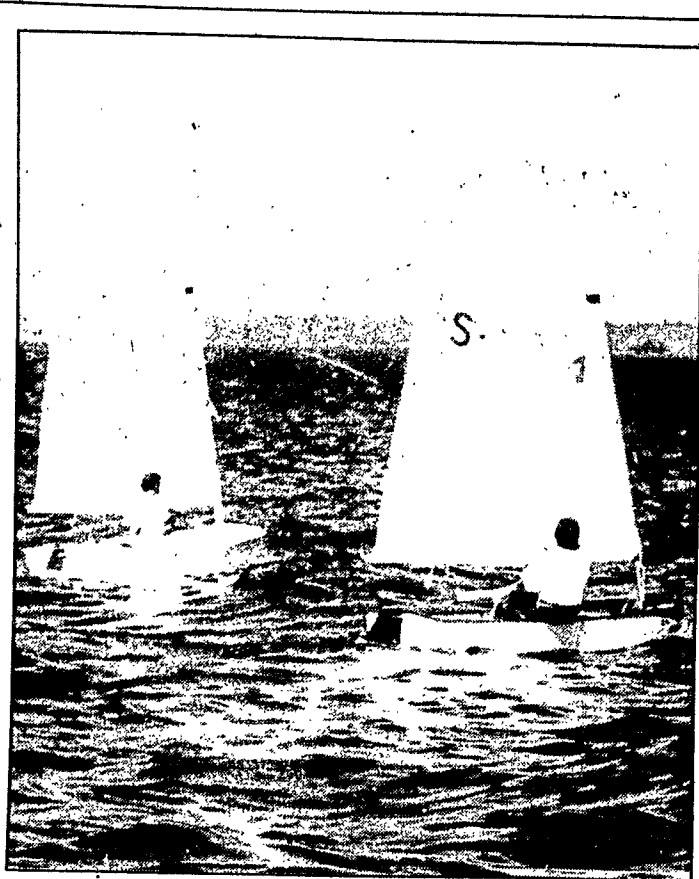

Stats also indicate that the Wildcats are averaging 19 assists per game and 16 offensive rebounds and 29 defensive rebounds. The Cats are averaging nearly 10 steals per game.

Freshman Stephon Mason of Clayton, La. is leading the Wildcats in scoring with a 23.3 average. Gerald Irving, a sophomore from Houma, La. is averaging 20 points per outing.

Kindall Leggett, a Hattiesburg sophomore and Breau Bridge, La. freshman Sebastian Patt are averaging nearly 11 points per contest.

"I'm pleased with the first half of the season," said Georgian. "I hope we can pick up full speed in January."

The Wildcats are scheduled to play Holmes at William Carey College on Jan. 4 and Southwest at Summit, Jan. 8.

Optimists set sail

Junior sailors representing Bay-Waveland and Pass Christian Yacht Clubs will join others from New Orleans in the Sugar Bowl Regatta this Saturday and Sunday at Southern Yacht Club on Lake Pontchartrain. It will be the last Optimist sailing event of the year. (Echo staff photo by Jacqui Cochran)

Raiders earn tenth win

Coast Episcopal won two of three games over a four-day period to run their season record to 10-4.

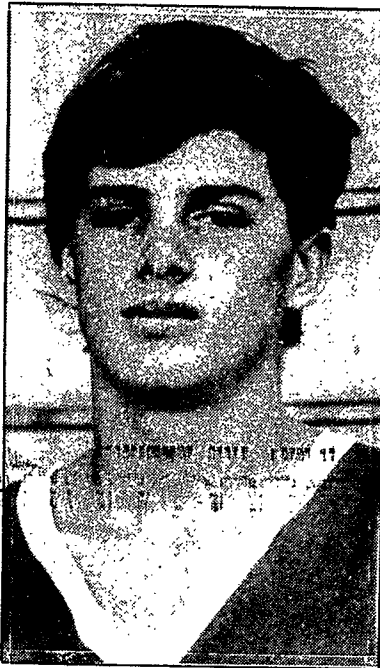

Friday night, the Raiders overcame an early deficit and defeated Pine Hills 71-58. Down 15-5 late in the first quarter, the Raiders scored 19 unanswered points to build a 41-29 halftime lead.

Senior Bruce Hull led the Raiders in scoring with 29 points, followed by freshman Tyrone Jones with 19. Junior Adam Farragut tossed in eight, with sophomore Dave Hagan and senior Paul Bernadas canning four. Sophomore Nathan Guice pitched in one.

Playing their second game within 16 hours, the Raiders lost to Chamberlain Hunt Academy 57-55 Saturday afternoon in Port Gibson.

Hull again led the way for the Raiders with 30 points, followed by Jones with 18. Sophomore George Hlass added four with Guice and Farragut scoring three and two points respectively.

Monday night, the Raiders played host to Marrero, La., and defeated the much larger Knights 54-49 behind 23 points from Jones and 14 rebounds from Guice. Guice, playing the center position for the Raiders, held the 6'7" center for the Knights to 14 points and only six rebounds.

Hull added 17 points, with Guice tossing in five. Hagan added four, with Hlass hitting for three, and Bernadas can-

GRIZZLY BEARS

Alaskan grizzly bears salmon-fishing on a waterfall, gorging on berries to fatten up for the winter, hunting moose, and ignoring curious human onlookers are featured in the "Nature" presentation of "Grizzly Country" at 7 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16 on Mississippi ETV.

At one time, grizzly bears occupied most of the United States. Today, about 1,000 grizzlies are found in Wyoming Yellowstone National Park and in the deep mountains of Montana's Glacier National Park. Only in Alaska do a large number of grizzlies—about 30,000—roam across the wilderness, raising their cubs.

FARMWEEK

1990, the year in agriculture, will be examined on the next edition of the Mississippi Educational Television Network's "Farmweek" at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Dec. 17 with a rebroadcast the following morning at 6:15.

The weekly agricultural news program will recall some of the major events shaping agriculture during the past year.

Reynolds Recycling relocates in Waveland

Aluminum recycling has become more convenient in the Waveland area.

Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company has relocated its convenience center to the Wal-Mart parking lot at the intersection of highways 90 and 603, according to Jan Autin, Reynolds' area marketing coordinator.

"The increased visibility will be tremendous," Autin said. "The center will be much easier to reach and that should mean a greater amount of recycled cans in the community."

The center, managed by Roy Crews and Jim Pier, is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 a.m. until noon and from 12:30 until 5 p.m.

Over the past 22 years, Reynolds has recycled more than 100 billion aluminum beverage cans, plus millions of pounds of other types of non-can aluminum scrap. In the process, Reynolds has paid recyclers more than $1.2 billion.

Awards

her, Paul Johnson, Ron Kayes, Mike Lee, Brian Martin, Scott Peterson, Mickey Quinlan, Sam Simpson, Galen Smith, Tate Thriffley, Wade Weidman and Kerry Wittmann.

Certificates of participation in cross country went to David Bell, Teddy Belson, Dale DeCamp, Phillip Dunlap, Neil Heitzmann and Jimmy Williams.

Certificates of participation in football were presented to Brian Allen, Stanley Chapman, Hunter Doyle, Jeremiah Fuhner, Bryce Gex, Andrew Gutierrez, Ron Kayes, Matt Lee (manager);

Buddy Lemann (manager), Cameron Little, Kris Minchew, Greg Poche, Tyler Rainey, John Rutherford, Mark Sherwin, George Wichser and Burney Young.

Dec. 22 named state doe day

State deer hunters will be going to the woods for one day in search of either-sex deer on Saturday, Dec. 22 in all 82 counties and on the following wildlife management areas: Bucatunna, Chickasawhay, Leaf River, Little Biloxi, Old River, Pearl River, Red Creek and Wolf River.

All U.S. Forest Service and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers lands in the following counties are excluded: Benton, Calhoun, De Soto, Grenada, Lafayette, Marshall, Panola, Tate, Tippah, Tunica and Yalobusha.

Shooting hours for deer are one-half hour before sunrise until one-half hour after sunset. Hunters must have a valid hunting license signed and on their person before going to the woods.

State law requires that all deer hunters must wear in plain view 500 square inches of unbroken hunter orange material.

'Super Gift from Heaven' offered by Bay Catholic

Bay Catholic Elementary School students are giving themselves to family and friends in their holiday production of "Super Gift From Heaven," Thursday, Dec. 20 at 7 p.m.

The entire student body in grades one through six will join hearts and voices to present the Christmas musical fantasy in the new Bay High Auditorium.

The Coast Youth Ballet Ensemble will make a guest appearance performing excerpts from the classic ballet, "The Nutcracker."

Their selections include "The Waltz of the Snowflakes," "Land of Sweets" and the colorful "Waltz of the Flowers." Their dress rehearsal will be open to the public Wednesday, Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

"Super Gift From Heaven" is about a group of dolls and toys in a toy shop who are anticipating the holidays, but begin to ask themselves what a true gift really is. Bay Catholic music instructor Mary Howard is directing the play.

The first graders are baby dolls in the production; the second graders are clowns, and third graders will perform as the chorus, including a group of bell-ringers.

Students in grades 4 through 6 who do not have roles in the play participate in the school band presenting a pre-show of Christmas carols.

"I'm really excited," said Howard, discussing plans for the event, one of the first scheduled for the new auditorium. "The kids, for the first time, have the opportunity to be on a real stage, with spotlights and a sound system," she added.

Bay Catholic cast members will distribute remembrances of "Super Gift From Heaven" to the audience following the performance.

The non-profit Coast Youth Ballet Ensemble is donating scenery to the joint venture.

"We want to make the evening a truly cultural event for all the children involved," said Sharon Loiavano, ballet ensemble director.

Tickets are available at Bay Catholic Elementary School and The Ballet Place in Bay St. Louis. There will be a box at the auditorium for the collection of new toys to be distributed by the Fire Department during its annual Christmas toy drive.

Students named to 'Who's Who'

Numerous students from this area have been included in the 24th annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1989-90.

Who's Who, published by Educational Communications Inc., Lake Forest, Ill., is the largest high school recognition publication in the country.

Students are nominated by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches, or by the publishing company based upon students' performance in scholarships, award contests and extracurricular activities.

Final selection is determined on the basis of criteria which include high achievement in academics and leadership, in school activities, athletics or community service. Traditionally, 99 percent of Who's Who students have a grade point average of "B" or better, and 97 percent are college bound.

The 24th edition of Who's Who, published in 15 regional volumes, features more than 650,000 students, or 5 percent of the nation's 12,000,000 high school students. They represent 18,000 of the 22,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the country.

Who's Who students also compete for more than $65,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's annual opinion poll of teen attitudes. The book is distributed to 15,000 high schools, colleges, universities and public libraries throughout the country.

Local students selected for this year's volumes are:

Noonan joins USM council

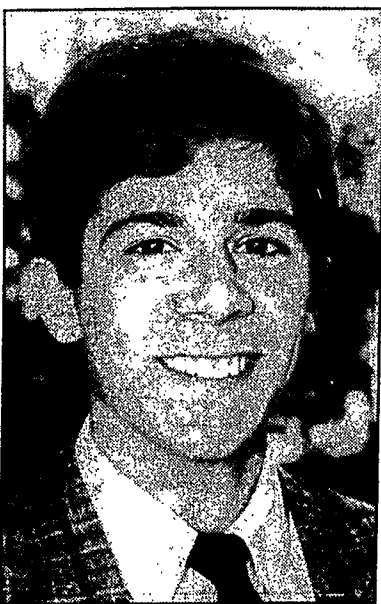

Natalie Elizabeth Noonan of Bay St. Louis has been selected as a member of the University Activities Council (UAC) at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The UAC is responsible for providing entertainment for the student body at USM, sponsoring such activities as movies, concerts and the "Comedy Zone."

Members must submit an application and go through an interview process before being selected to the 40-member group.

Noonan, the 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan P. Noonan of Bay St. Louis, is a sophomore at USM majoring in accounting. She is a graduate of Bay Senior High School.

Holder named Senior of Month

GEORGE HOLDER

George Holder has been named Senior of the Month for November at St. Stanislaus High School.

This special award, which is voted on by the faculty members at St. Stanislaus, recognizes those seniors who display in a unique manner the character traits of sincerity, enthusiasm, family spirit, involvement, observance and responsibility.

Holder is an honor-roll student and a member of the National Honor Society, the French Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta (Math Honor Society), the yearbook staff, the Drama Club and the varsity cheerleaders. He is president of the French Honor Society. Holder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Holder of Long Beach.

HEART ATTACKS DON'T KEEP OFFICE HOURS.

WHEN EVERY SECOND COUNTS, YOU CAN COUNT ON US.

In the critical moments after a heart attack, immediate expert medical attention is crucial to survival. There's no time to try and track down a cardiologist. At Slidell Memorial Hospital, our Cardiology Team is at the ready anytime, all the time. Your call puts into action a well-honed emergency assistance plan. Even as the Emergency One ambulance speeds to the scene, skilled cardiac surgeons and other specialists prepare for the patient's arrival. By radio, cardiologists instruct emergency medical technicians on how to stabilize the patient enroute.

Not a second is wasted.

NOT A SECOND IS WASTED.

Slidell Memorial Hospital is the first in our area to provide 'round-the-clock emergency cardiology care. Timely specialized treatment by our team of highly-trained doctors, nurses, and technicians has given literally hundreds of heart attack victims a second chance... and a future.
